

CICR

Interview with Peter W. Singer / by Vincent Bernard, Mariya Nikolova and Mark Silverman

Document type:	Article
Subtype of document:	Entretien
Title:	Interview with Peter W. Singer
Host item entries:	International review of the Red Cross,
Author zone:	by Vincent Bernard, Mariya Nikolova and Mark Silverman
Language(s):	eng
Abstract:	In this interview, Peter Singer explains to what extent and how new technologies change the way we think about going to war and the way we conduct war, as well as how they will impact the work of humanitarian actors. He shares his vision for the future, analyzing both the ethical and legal challenges that access to new advanced technologies poses and the opportunities it offers.
Keyword in French:	SCIENCE CONFLIT ARME MOYEN DE COMBAT CONDUITE DES HOSTILITES
Keyword in English:	SCIENCE ARMED CONFLICT MEANS OF COMBAT CONDUCT OF HOSTILITIES
Authors:	Singer, P.W. Bernard, Vincent (interviewer) Nikolova, Mariya (interviewer) Silverman, Mark (interviewer)
Go to:	International review of the Red Cross / ICRC International review of the Red Cross [Vol. 94, no. 886, Summer 2012] / ICRC