

CICR

International humanitarian law in occupied East Timor : displacement, relocation and famine / Suzannah Linton

Document type:	Chapter
Title:	International humanitarian law in occupied East Timor : displacement, relocation and famine
Author zone:	Suzannah Linton
In:	Asia-Pacific perspectives on international humanitarian law
Editor:	Cambridge : Cambridge University Press, 2020
Physical description:	p. 400-422
Languages:	English
Abstract:	This contribution engages with three aspects of the many issues of international humanitarian law (IHL) arising from the Indonesian invasion and occupation of East Timor, 1 and 1999 retreat. It takes up the matter of the unlawful displacement and relocation of hundreds of thousands of civilians during the invasion and subjugation of the territory, throughout the years of occupation, and after the 1999 UN-sponsored referendum on the territory's future. The early displacement and relocation led not just to immense suffering and loss, and dislocation of families and communities, but eventually resulted in the further tragedy of famine. The present contribution will then build on the discussion about unlawful displacement and relocation to address the central question of why IHL failed the East Timorese.
Authors:	Linton, Suzannah
Keyword in English:	TIMOR-LESTE MILITARY OCCUPATION INDONESIA FORCED DISPLACEMENT FAMINE FOURTH CONVENTION OF 1949 OCCUPYING POWER VIOLATION
Keyword in French:	TIMOR-LESTE OCCUPATION MILITAIRE INDONESIE DEPLACEMENT FORCE FAMINE QUATRIEME CONVENTION DE 1949 PUISSANCE OCCUPANTE VIOLATION
Go to:	Asia-Pacific perspectives on international humanitarian law / ed. by Suzannah Linton, Tim McCormack [and] Sandesh Sivakumaran

Call number	Disposability / Due date
345.2/1057	See main document